

The Crew Stay at Home

Today, we'll be with...
Jiwa!

Hello everyone!
My name is Jiwa
and I live in South America.

It's a bit far away,
look at this map...

My friends call me a "handywoman" because I'm good at repairing and fixing things with my hands.

I love being able to help people when their stuff breaks.

And you, do you like helping people? How do you do it?

I'm a bit sad these days. In my country, there's a virus called coronavirus that makes people ill. You know of it, don't you? It seems like it loves travelling...

Some people have asked me if I could fix this situation, so I've got started on it!

But I can't find a solution against this virus. I want to help people, both people who are sick and those who aren't, so that they never get sick. What can I do?

Can you help me think of something? What do you do in class to fight against the virus?

Researchers and doctors keep repeating one of the keys to fighting this virus: WASH YOUR HANDS.

Of course! It's a great idea. What do you think?

I suggest that every day of this week there is a person responsible for this mission:

Check that everybody has washed their hands.

This way, we will definitely succeed!

This way, we'll not only take care of ourselves,
but we'll also take care of others, all over the world!

That's wonderful! I'm sure we can fight this virus together.

Thank you for helping me

find a solution!
