

Hi! Good morning! I'm Melody Taypin. I live in Kiblawan, Southern Davao, in the Philippines, and I'm currently studying at the Holy Cross of Kiblawan Inc. School in Indonesia. Our classes were interrupted and ended abruptly on March 17, 2020.

The coronavirus spread rapidly in our country, and many people suffered. We stayed at home to avoid the virus and, as a result, places that were full of people are now empty.

As the spread of coronavirus was unexpected, my family had financial problems, so we had to borrow money from our kind relatives.

The current situation was unimaginable, and I feel sad to be experiencing it. Many people have cried over the endless problems all around.

However, despite the harshness of this pandemic, it has taught us many lessons. Today, I was studying without a teacher and it was very difficult for me, so I realized I should value their efforts and be kind to them. In addition to that, all people must cooperate with the government in order to end this pandemic and, even if things seem impossible, we just have to believe in ourselves and, most importantly, in our God.

Don't lose hope and always believe in God because he will clear the way. Thank you very much.

Restarting to transform